

Risk Warning and Disclaimer of Liability:

Pitch60 is mobile application software as a service crowdfunding platform. Pitch60 is not a registered broker-dealer and does not offer investment advice nor advice on the raising of capital through equity offerings.

Pitch60 does not recommend or otherwise suggest in any way that any investor make an investment in a particular company and/or business and/or startup or that any company and/or business and/or startup offer equity to a particular investor.

Investing in early-stage businesses is not for everyone. It is a high-risk activity and experts agree that only a minimum amount up to 10% of one's assets should be invested in this way.

Investments in startups can result in profits as well as losses up to the full amount invested. Also note that past performance is not indicative of future returns. Startup investments are illiquid and often take 4-6 years to generate realized returns, if any.

Therefore, if you choose to invest in businesses displayed on pitch60.com, you need to be aware and accept that (1) it is significantly more likely than not that you will lose some or all of the money you invest, (2) you will likely be unable to sell your investment, (3) even if the business is successful, you will be unlikely to receive any cash return on your investment for many years, (4) ordinary events in the life of the business can cause your percentage ownership in the business to decrease, and (5) if you choose to invest in early-stage businesses, you should do so only in the context of a broader investment strategy whereby the vast majority of your investable capital is placed in safer, more liquid assets. For more information regarding the risks associated with early stage investments, please read our Risk Warnings.

Pitch60 takes no part in the negotiation or execution of transactions.

Nothing on this website shall be considered an offer to sell, or a solicitation of an offer to buy, any security to any person in any jurisdiction to whom or in which such offer, solicitation or sale is unlawful.

Pitch60 does not provide legal, financial or tax advice of any kind to you. If you have any questions with respect to legal, financial or tax matters relevant to your interactions with Pitch60, you should consult your lawyer and/or a professional adviser.

Therefore, no communication from Pitch60 through this platform and/or website and/or any other medium, should be construed as a recommendation regarding any portion and/or kind of securities.

It is not intended to be a promotion of any individual investment opportunity, and the summary information provided about investment opportunities is intended solely to demonstrate the types of investments available through Pitch60.

Any decision to invest is considered to have been taken solely by the prospective investor and should be made solely on the basis of the full listing for that particular investment opportunity.

Pitch60 shall in no event be liable for any damages or losses.

Types of investors:

A Crowd Investor is an individual who, or an entity which, is a member of the general public and who/which for the first time and/or from time to time, independently, engages in the practice of investing minimal and/or small amounts in a promising early-stage venture, a startup or a high growth business, to provide them a chance at success, in exchange of equity in that business. Crowd investors most often are not members of any investors' association and/or union, do not invest as part of a syndicate but their action to invest is most usually and/or commonly considered as an action which forms part of a collective effort by members of the crowd to provide funding to a venture and/or a business as described above. By clicking/indicating that you are a Crowd investor while registering, you simultaneously and irrevocably agree to the provisions of this Risk Warning and Disclaimer policies documents.

An Angel Investor is usually a high net worth individual who, or an entity which, most often possess some skills to identify a promising early-stage venture, a startup and/or a high growth business to invest in, on their own and/or as a part of a syndicate, in exchange of equity in that venture and/or business as described above. Angel investors usually have some history of previous made similar and/or other investment moves and very often are considered to have experience if the particular industry and/or sector of industry in which the business and/or venture they decide to invest in, belongs. Angel investors are usually members of investors' networks and/or associations and/or unions and/or groups. By clicking/indicating that you are an Angel Investor you simultaneously and irrevocably agree to the provisions of this Risk Warning and Disclaimer policies.

A Venture Capitalist is usually a professionally managed public or private entity and/or firm, or a high net worth individual who are usually looking for opportunities in industries and/or sectors that are familiar with and who are supposed to possess the necessary and relevant investment and other skills and expertise to invest considerably high amounts of finance and/or deploy third party funds into relatively young business businesses and/or ventures, promising early-stage ventures, startups, high growth businesses and/or ventures, expansion-stage businesses and/or ventures and SMEs that have a high risk but also a high potential for growth and thus returns, in exchange for taking an equity position in that business and/or venture as described above. Venture Capitalists usually provide much higher amounts of finance to the chosen business and/or venture comparing to the amounts invested by Angel investors. By clicking/indicating that you are a Venture capitalist while registering you simultaneously and irrevocably agree to the provisions of this Risk Warning and Disclaimer policies.

Your action to invest through this website/crowdfunding platform/mobile application software constitutes, among others, an acceptance to the provisions of this Disclaimer.